Technik zur Aufbereitung von Biomasse

JENZ GmbH offers machinery for production and supply of biomass. We know and make it clear every day that it does not suffice to produce just a wide range of machines. These machines must rather fulfill their tasks and thus generate a benefit for our customers.

The machines must continuously be improved and supported by a perfect service with excellent trained factory representatives, first-class dealers and the safety of a smoothly functioning, world-wide spare parts supply. JENZ has been working according to these standards, which finally make the difference between companies, for more than 80 years now.

It is our strength that we can design the machines specially to your exact demands by special equipment.
